This was his nineteenth day without food. Hunger strikers at Mountjoy prison capitulated and began eating this afternoon.

Twenty-two hunger strikers in Cork, however, continued their voluntary starvation and several had collapsed.

The lord mayor was in a semi-coma condition most of last night. He has grown much more emaciated during the last few hours. During one of his periods of consciousness, he sent greetings through his brother Sean to the hunger striking prisoners in Cork.

PACKERS' Plan To Sell Control Is Disapproved

Federal Trade Commissioner Condemns Scheme to Form Holding Company.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—The proposal of big meat packers to sell their control of principal stockyards to a $30,000,000 holding company met with disapproval by Federal Trade Commissioner Coghly and the League of Women Voters today.

At the department of justice it was indicated the plan will not be accepted although final decision will be up to the attorney general. The packers agreed with Palmer to divest themselves of stockyards and so called un-related sidelines and the proposal filed in court is part of the carrying out of that agreement.

Under the proposal, packer holdings in 15 yards and terminal railroads would be sold to a holding company organized by F. H. Primer and Company of Boston, the packers to have something less than a fifty per cent interest in the company.

Colver, who headed the federal trade investigation of the packers and recommended regulatory legislation, said of the proposal:

"The most interesting part of this proposed adjustment to me is the reappearance of Frederick H. Primer upon the stage. It was Primer, who with Armour, succeeded in abolishing the so-called ownership of the Chicago stockyards so that nobody on earth has been able to know who the owners were or are. This was accomplished by the use of the bearer warrants, a thing which can defeat all income tax laws, all anti-trust laws and any court decree.

"This bearer warrant and its use are fully described by me in chapter five of part three of the federal trade commission's report on the meat packing industry and I have enjoyed the opportunity of explaining it in detail to several congressmen, all of which may be found in at least four public documents."

Miss Jessie Haver, legislative agent of the league of women voters, which has two million members, condemned the whole method of proceedings against the packers in the courts.

Want Another State to Ratify Amendment to Make Vote Doubly Sure.

TENNESSEE BACKS DOWN

By United Press Leased Wire
Hartford, Conn.—The Connecticut legislature, on special call of Governor Holcomb, will convene here September 14.

The call was originally intended to consider measures for handling registration and the holding of women voters, but it was believed suffragists would endeavor to make the first action of the legislature ratification.

Washington, D. C.—Suffrage leaders today announced they will start immediately a vigorous campaign to get Connecticut to ratify the nineteenth amendment, granting national enfranchisement to women.

While officials of the National Woman's Party said they had no doubt yesterday's action of the Tennessee house in rescinding its previous approval of suffrage was illegal, they declared the effort to get another ratification will be redoubled to remove all question of the validity of the amendment.

According to word here, Governor Holcomb has called a special session of the Connecticut legislature to pass laws providing for registration of women. Suffragists also hoped to have the amendment considered.

Officials of the department of justice refused to give a formal opinion of the action in Tennessee yesterday but they said there was no doubt if Connecticut ratified it made no difference whether Tennessee's action was held valid or invalid. It was understood the hesitation of officials to give an opinion was because they expect a request for one from the president. It was said informally at the department, however, that the question of Tennessee's ratification would turn on:

"Whether the department of justice is willing to reconsider, which failed while suffrage opponents were absent, prevail."

"Whether the right to offer a motion to reconsider in Tennessee automatically died two days after the resolution to ratify was first adopted, and that whether the absence of a quorum at the time of the first reconsideration invalid this action of the Tennessee house."

It was the impression here that these questions will have to be decided by the United States supreme court and the decision will probably not come until after the fall elections.

Afterwards Miss Emma Wold, acting secretary of the party, said today: "After consulting several constitutional lawyers we are sure that suffrage is a fact."

ILLNESS OF FRENCH HEAD CAUSES CONCERN

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris.—Failure of President Deschanel to return from his country home to the Elysee palace today as scheduled, resulted in fresh rumors regarding the seriousness of his condition.

In high political circles it was declared no decision would be reached regarding the president's possible resignation before the senate and chamber reconvenes late in October.

There was no attempt at denial that new political combinations are being formed contingent upon Deschanel's resignation. Premier Millerand, General Castelnau and possibly Senator Bourgeois are considered as presidential candidates, with election of the premier almost certain.

"I do not know whether I stabbed Nott fifteen or fifty times," said Wade, according to the police.

POLICE ARE SEEKING ANOTHER BOND WIZARD

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Chicago police today announced their search for another "bond wizard"—Ralph P. Edwards, former bond wizard of the Chicago Trust company.

Edwards, according to officials of the company and police, left Chicago in June leaving a shortage of possibly $25,000.

According to the trust company, Edwards, a clerk and salesman in the bond department had accepted liberally some left for deposit, giving his personal receipt. He was believed to have lost in speculation, they said.

August Franke left on Wednesday for Milwaukee as a bondman in company with his son, J. J. Franke, for some time. They expect to visit relatives for several days.

POLICE CONTINUE PROBE OF MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Under the protection of the husband when she had sued for divorce, Mrs. Gladys Jacobson was free today pending resumption of the lawsuit over Howard B. Rhodes, Mrs. Jacobson shot while auto riding with the woman.

An inquest was begun yesterday but continued ten days while police seek further for witnesses. It was also decided to check on apparent discrepancies in the stories first told by Mrs. Jacobson and that related from the witness stand yesterday.

Rhodes was shot, Mrs. Jacobson said, by a bandit who fled without revealing his motive for the act. Rhodes was a merchant here. His wife, mother of his two children, attended the inquest but was not called to testify.

POLICE PROBE REVEALS THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

Michigan Man Recovers Ma- chine After Investigation by Chief Prim.

WORKS ON OBSCURE CLEWS

Chicago Man Threatens Court Action to Recover Use of the Machine.

Another stolen automobile has been restored to its owner through the efforts of the Appleton police department. It required a persistent investigation on the part of Chief Prim to determine if it was stolen and to find its rightful owner but the problem finally unraveled itself.

The car was a 1920 model, seven passenger and was in the possession of Wilfred H. Carmecchia, Chicago, who is spending some time here on business. John Wallenbach, proprietor of a radiator shop on College avenue, gave the police the clue after being asked to solder a new number plate on the frame of the car. A rapid fire series of inquiries to different points by Chief Prim finally proved Mr. Wemy of Allegan, Mich., the owner.

The attention of the police was called to the matter late in the afternoon of August 25. Carmecchia brought newly stamped serial number plate to Wallenbach and asked him to solder it on the rear spring of the machine, the place where the frame number is usually located. The original number plate had been removed. Mr. Wallenbach complied and then informed the police of his suspicion that something seemed queer about the matter.

A search for the car and its driver followed. He was found to be using the name of Wilfred Duke and roomed with his wife at 632 Lake street. He called at a west side garage after the plate was soldered on and exchanged the machine for a Ford and accepted the balance in cash. He was traced to a local hotel, where Chief Prim asked him concerning his ownership of the car.

Byrs Car in Chicago

The man produced a bill of sale executed by a notary public. He said he purchased the machine for $1,350 from a man on the street near the Ashland block, Chicago. He explained that he had needed a car for his business in Wisconsin and told a friend he was about to buy a Ford. The friend told him he knew a man who would sell him a Buick which was nearly new for $1,350. Carmecchia was introduced to the supposed car owner, who explained that he was about to leave for Arkansas for his health and would sell the car for factory cost.

Carmecchia turned the money over to the man after a bill of sale had been executed and took possession of the car. The document gave the name of George W. Slater, 4117 Stony Island Avenue, Chicago. Mr. Carmecchia also explained that he met with an accident at Elkhorn and the man reported the absence of the frame number plate to the sheriff. An attorney was engaged to look up the matter, and gave Mr. Carmecchia a letter stating that his ownership of the car was unquestioned. The town marshal also gave a statement, both of which Carmecchia showed the chief, together with the bill of sale.

Chief Prim had several reasons to believe that the car was stolen. He perceived that the street address given for the supposed Mr. Slater in Chicago was a fake. The chief is thoroughly familiar with Chicago because of his residence there for many years. It was also found that the engine number had been altered. It read "583555." An attempt had been made to file off the "5" and stamp a "2" in its place. The "2" was somewhat larger than the other figures, and the "5" was still visible underneath. Two other figures had also been partly obliterated.

The car was taken away from Mr. Carmecchia and a telegram was sent the Chicago authorities. They were back that they had no record of such a car being stolen. A telegram to the Buick factory at Flint, Mich., giving the numbers as closely as possible showed two cars that might answer, one of them said to a dealer at Battle Creek, Mich., and another to San Antonio, Texas.

Both dealers were wired. The Texas company realized that the car in question was still in its owner's possession. The Michigan firm wired that their car had been sold to W. C. Moser, Paw Paw, Mich. A telegram to the man brought no answer and he was then reached by telephone. He stated that he had never owned a Buick machine. The dealer was then asked to make a further investigation and found that the wrong name had been given.

Chief Prim was then referred to a Mr. Wemy, Allegan, Mich.

A telegram came back immediately which read: "My Buick car was stolen from Kalamazoo, Mich., August 13. Hold until my son-in-law, F. E. Hills, arrives." Mr. Hills arrived here Tuesday afternoon and was able to furnish the most detailed description of the car, proving without doubt that it belonged to Mr. Wemy. Steps were therefore taken to dispossess Mr. Carmecchia and restore the machine to its rightful owner.

All of the facts in the case were communicated to the Chicago police department, where an attempt will be made to find the man who made the sale. It is believed that the theft was committed by a ring of professionals, whose apprehension may be made possible through the work of the Appleton department.

"COX HAS THE PROOFS", WHITE TELLS CAMPAIGN FUND PROBERS

WOMEN CONTINUE SUFFRAGE FIGHT

COX TO CONTINUE ATTACK ON G. O. P.

Leaders Are Preparing for Re- sumption of Tennessee Battle.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—The National League of Women Voters, while confident the action of the anti-suffragists in the Tennessee legislature in rescinding that state's ratification of the suffrage amendment, is illegal, today began "rounding up" its suffrage majority among the Tennessee assemblymen in preparation for continuation of the battle.

Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the league, spent most of the day on her office here in telephone conversation with officials of the organization planning resumption of the fight in Tennessee.

She sought opinions from highest federal and state legal officials. She intimated their unofficial opinions had been that original ratification of the amendment would stand.

Miss Paul pointed out the West Virginia legislature was unable to consider its ratification and that when the fifteenth amendment was passed after the civil war the New York assembly was prevented from rescinding its action in ratifying.

Chairman of Democratic Com- mittee Says He Cannot Prove Cox Charges.

NEED $2,000,000 FUND

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—The democratic national committee has collected to date only $65,000 for its national campaign fund and must depend upon small popular contributions to provide the remainder of its budget estimated at $2,000,000. George White, chairman of the committee, testified today before the senate "slush fund" investigators here.

White painted a picture of party activity that was in sharp contrast to the republican account presented by Will H. Hays and Treasurer Fred Upham.

Hays and Upham told of collections of $1,300,000, a budget of $3,572,000 and a nationwide organization to raise money.

White said he had made no plans, had no exact budget, had no organization to raise money, and has been unable to allot funds to various party bureaus, because there was no fund to allot.

"We are in serious need," said White.

The republican members of the committee snapped questions at White in rapid-fire concerning Gov. Cox's charges that the republicans had sinister interests and were conspiring to buy an "underhold on the government."

White, unperturbed by the heat of his questioners, replied to all the queries that he believed firmly in Cox's ability to prove all his charges but said Cox and he alone, has the evidence.

"I have no evidence," White said, "but I have full confidence in Governor Cox."

White said he knew Treasurer March sent some telegrams to friends asking funds but he did not know to whom they were sent.

"We have no control over Tammany Hall," White replied when Edge asked: "Don't you know Tammany Hall will raise hundreds of thousands of dollars that won't go into the hands of the national committee?"

That presidential elections often turn on one state and money "used corruptly in even one precinct may turn the whole election," White admitted on question of Senator Worthington.

Democrats do not fear the Barnes book but the effect of pledges of support from big financiers, White said.

He declared the democrats will not accept funds from special interests.

Parley P. Christensen, presidential nominee of the farmer-labor party, announced today that he would request an opportunity to present to the committee his enormous evidence concerning the financial support of the republican and democratic party campaigns.

Christensen has prepared a statement in which it is understood charges that Wall Street and J. P. Morgan are backing both Harding and Cox financially.

Chicago.—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, today told the senate "slush fund" investigators committee that he had tentatively fixed $2,000,000 as the cost of a Cox-Roosevelt campaign.

White denied that at any time the democrats had planned to raise from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

White was put on the witness stand when the hearing on campaign expenditures was resumed. W. D. Jamieson, assistant treasurer of the democratic national committee, who was scheduled to testify, failed to arrive.

"I haven't had time to fix definite budgets for the various bureaus," said White.

"I have tentatively fixed $100,000 as the budget for the speakers' bureau."

"Are you going to limit the size of contributions?" Senator Spencer, Missouri, asked.

"No, I have already publicly stated we will not. It will depend on the source of the contribution."

"Do you know of any sinister influences trying to make a continuation of profiteering possible, through contributions to the republican party?" asked Spencer.

"I have read Governor Cox's charges, and he is usually able to prove his charges," replied White.

He said he had no evidence to submit.

Must Ask Cox

Spencer asked Cox of Cox's charges as made in his Pittsburgh speech and asked White where evidence could be obtained. In each case White said Cox had the evidence.

He added that in his opinion the testimony presented regarding the pledging of moral and financial support to the republican party by the Rockefeller and other millionaires under the guise of subscriptions to William Barnes' book "Republicanism of 1920" was evidence of the readiness of certain interests to "buy an underhold on the presidency."

In response to further questioning by Senator Kenyon, White said he had "no evidence whatever" of the truth of any of Cox's charges.

"If he has such evidence it would be fine campaign material wouldn't it?" Kenyon continued.

"I might be," replied White.

White said Cox did not give him

HARDING LINING UP ALL FACTIONS

His Speech Is Said to Have Placated Both Friends and Foes of League.

By United Press Leased Wire

Marion, Ohio.—Warren G. Harding is making headway toward putting in effect campaign slogan of "Harding and Harmony," according to political observers here today reviewing the progress of the republican campaign.

Harding went into the campaign with two possible schemes in his party one over the league and one over the progressives who failed to nominate their candidates at Chicago.

In both cases Harding's friends here declared he has sealed up the cracks and made his party a solid unit.

The league of nations speech in which Harding proposed a Hague tribunal backed by an association of nations for conference, answers the demands of ex-President Taft and other republicans who wanted Harding to back the league of nations. Harding's position, advisers say, avoids the objections of the "bitter-enders" to the Versailles league, while satisfying the sentiment for an organization to settle international disputes.

Harding's scalding pad was blank today and he hoped to get in some work on his Labor Day speech to be delivered here next week.

SLAYER SAYS EVERY MAN IN WYOMING CARRIES GUN

Chicago.—"Every man in Wyoming carries a gun," Gerald A. Stark told a coroner's jury in explaining his part in a fatal roadhouse row here early Tuesday. He was held by the police today, after admitting shooting William Williamson. It was alleged, Williamson insulted a girl in Stark's party.

Stark said his party had had several highballs and that he was confused as to how the fight started. He claimed he had been struck from behind that he used his gun as a club. Finally, he said, his arms were pinned behind him and that while he was so held the gun was discharged four times. He exhibited holes in the back of his coat to substantiate the story.

Stark said he had never fired a gun before and that he was not a member of any organization.

By United Press Leased Wire
Norristown, N. J.—Two operators of a mail plane were killed when their machine fell near here today. Explosion of the gasoline tank started a fire when the machine hit the ground and burned the bodies beyond recognition.

Letters found in mail pouches indicated the plane was bound from New York to Chicago.

The postmaster here reported to the Newark air mail field that Max Miller was the pilot of the machine.

According to the inspector the elevator was loaded beyond capacity when the cable snapped.

Several girls were among the injured. The dead are Albert A. Kaplan and Max Slaughter.

POLES AND SOVIETS BOTH CLAIM GAINS

London Military Men Wonder if Wrangel Will Recover From Defeat.

By United Press Leased Wire

Warsaw.—Further gains in the north more than offsetting the temporary bolshevik successes in the Lemberg region, were reported in the Polish communiques today.

"We entered Augustof (forty miles west of Grodno) Sunday," the communiques said.

"In the Brestok sector the enemy continued to retreat. We captured Sokolka midway between Brestok and Grodno and Grodno (20 miles east of Brestok)."

"Attempted enemy resistance in the region of Malin and Narvetska has been smashed."

"In the region of Zamosc (65 miles northwest of Lemberg) we are resisting General Eudynsky's cavalry."

Confirm Wrangel Route

London.—Speculation was rife in semi-official quarters here today as to the ability of General Wrangel to recuperate from the crushing defeat he is alleged to have received on the Crimean and Kuban fronts.

Partial confirmation of the bolshevik claims of overwhelming defeat of Wrangel's forces was contained in official dispatches from Constantinople, which reported the anti-bolshevik leader being badly worsted last week in battles on those two fronts. No direct word had been received from Wrangel, however.

In military circles apprehension was expressed as to the possible fate of Wrangel's expedition in the Don region, the position of which would be rendered untenable by such a defeat in his other two sectors as was described in a recent Moscow communique.

SLAYER SUSPECT IS TAKEN TO ARGENTINA

By United Press Leased Wire
Rio Janeiro.—The British steamer Dryden was enroute today to Buenos Aires with Morris Fox, a sailor arrested on suspicion of being Eugene Leroy, alleged wife murderer, aboard.

Fox will be turned over to American officials upon his arrival in Argentina, from where it is believed, he will be extradited.

In the opinion of American officials here the case against Fox was greatly weakened by the obvious difference in appearance between the suspect and photographs of Leroy brought here.

SENATE PROBER HOLDS CONFERENCE WITH COX

Columbus, Ohio.—Gov. Cox today conferred with Senator Pomerene, Ohio, on the senate campaign fund probe at Chicago.

Pomerene, a member of the committee, arrived here unexpectedly this morning but explained that an important legal engagement was the reason for the trip. The senator explained that being a member of the committee he did not feel justified in commenting on the developments of the investigation until all testimony of the investigation was in.

He breakfasted with Cox and later talked with him for an hour, but the governor said he would make no statement regarding the conference because of the senator's position.

CHARGE DOCTORS SOLD NARCOTICS

Indictments Will Be Asked Against Five Wisconsin Physicians.

Milwaukee.—Five indictments of doctors in the eastern district of Wisconsin, charged with having violated the Harrison anti-narcotic law, will be asked at the next session of the federal grand jury. Two are Milwaukeeans.
The physicians are said to have been prescribing morphine for addicts. This is a violation of the law, unless the doctor shows his good faith by putting the patient in a hospital. One of the accused is said to have prescribed 300 tablets of morphine for one user since February.
Excessive Fee Alleged
The alleged offenses are said to have been committed for mercenary reasons. One doctor is said to have charged a patient $4 for prescribing 50 tablets and $10 for prescribing 200 tablets, despite the fact that no greater amount of time or trouble is involved in writing the one prescription than the other.
Strict Rules for Addicts
An addict is not permitted to get narcotics without going to a hospital, though he may tell a doctor that he wants to be cured, and that a drug be prescribed in decreasing doses. An addict, authorities say, is irresponsible. He may go to another doctor and get an additional supply, while leading the first physician to believe that he is being cured.
Next Session in October
The next session of the federal grand jury will be in October. If indictments are returned, the defendants will be liable for a fine of $500 and imprisonment for two years.

OLD TIMERS BACK FOR CUMBERLAND PICNIC

Cumberland, Wis.—Among the lured to Cumberland from a great distance by the one-day picnic for pioneers were T. R. Roddy, first station agent here, and Mrs. Roddy, who came from Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olcott, Hollywood, Cal., who settled here in 1850; George Law, St. Paul, Minn., on the first train that ran into Cumberland, and James Garmo, who taught school here in 1854 when there were twenty-six saloons and 600 people.

Probably the most interesting people to the new generation were Mrs. Ellen Dahiby and her son, A. M. Dahiby, St. Paul, first white people in Cumberland. Mrs. Dahiby is 75 years old. She told how her husband had to walk to Rice Lake, twenty miles distant, to bring back supplies on his back.
"There was more contentment then, though," she said, "than there is now."
Margaret Bisnett, Conderay, great-granddaughter of Chief Little Pipe of the Indian tribe found on the island, also was present.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF NEW BADGER COLLEGE

Scandinavia, Wis.—On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 5, at 3 o'clock, the cornerstone of the new administration building of Central Wisconsin college at Scandinavia will be laid. Rev. Mr. Nordby, Deerfield, president of the eastern district of the Norwegian Lutheran church, will officiate. The sum of $10,000 has been pledged to date toward a fund to pay for school buildings for the college, to replace buildings destroyed by fire last spring, almost causing the closing of the school.

Getting More Gasoline

DEMAND FOR OIL GROWING FASTER THAN PRODUCED
Washington, D. C., June 30.—(Special.)—Production of gasoline increased 1,324,000 gallons daily, or 10 1/2 per cent during the first four months of 1920, according to a statement issued today by the bureau of mines. As against this increase in production, however, the domestic consumption of gasoline increased 1,468,000 gallons daily, or 25 per cent.
—(From an article Chicago Tribune, June 30, 1920.)

THIS epitomizes the situation accurately. It also indicates how great is the task of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).
But fuel for automotive power must be supplied. Especially is this true in the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), because in this area—the bread-basket of the nation—so large a percentage of the gasoline is consumed in producing food.
Take away—even cripple—the automotive power on the Middle West farms and food prices will soar because of decreased production.
The power-driven tractor is the only means by which the farmer can cope successfully with the shortage of man-power.
By extensive research and intensive application the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has increased the yield of gasoline from crude to the greatest degree yet known. But it is not satisfied.
The Company is striving to further increase the yield so that the use of the tractor, truck, the automobile, and the stationary gas engine may be used freely and without restriction.
It is apparent that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by increasing the yield has exerted, also, a downward influence on the price of gasoline.

The Economy of Using Goodyear Small Car Tires
So-called bargain tires, made up for sensational sales and offered at ridiculously low prices, do not attract careful buyers.
They are far more concerned with what they get than with what they pay because they know that in the end it is performance and not price that delivers actual tire economy.
The popularity of Goodyear Tires, of the 30x3, 30x3 1/2 and 31x4-inch sizes, is based on the fact that they deliver exceptional mileage at exceedingly low cost.
If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

WHICH IS TO RULE?
The Janesville branch of the American Legion has refused to appear in a Labor day parade in that city because John J. Blaine, La Follette and Non-Partisan League candidate for governor, is to be the speaker of the day. This action sharply defines the issue of the election throughout Wisconsin. The resolution adopted says: "Participation by the Janesville American Legion in any program in which Mr. Blaine appears as spokesman for Senator La Follette, whose attitude in the war was such as to bring disgrace upon Wisconsin's soldiers and citizens, would be not only a direct indorsement of Mr. Blaine's candidacy for governor of Wisconsin, but also direct indorsement of Senator La Follette's candidacy for reelection to the United States senate."

If there is one element of our citizens above all others who ought to take an uncompromising stand against Blaine for governor and Thompson for senator it is the men who went to fight for their country three years ago, and the loyal men and women who supported them back home. La Follette's attitude throughout that critical period needs not to be called up again. The record is there, open to all, and it will remain an issue of government in this state so long as La Follette lives and so long as those who supported him attempt to set up their doctrines and their brand of "Americanism" in this commonwealth.

A vote for Blaine is a vote for the Non-Partisan League and La Follette. A vote for Thompson is the same thing. Politically they are owned body and soul by La Follette. They indorse everything he said and did during the war. They have not hesitated to affront the loyal citizenship of the state with a defense of La Follette at every opportunity. They are the nominees of the Non-Partisan League, an organization which was openly charged with disloyalty during the war in North Dakota and Minnesota and whose members were prosecuted on such charges.

The test in Wisconsin proved that loyal men and women were in the majority. By the heroic service of her sons in France and by the splendid war work at home, Wisconsin redeemed herself to the rest of the Union. Redeemed herself from what? Is there any need to ask or answer that question? Are we now going to advertise to the rest of the country that what appeared on the surface as a redemption of Wisconsin from the political stains of war was not genuine?

This is exactly what we shall do if we elect as governor and as senator nominees of the Non-Partisan League and R. M. La Follette. We shall revive all the disgraceful incidents of 1917 and 1918 which made us hang our heads in shame. There is no use concealing the issue. The Non-Partisan League and La Follette do not conceal it. They are seeking without the least concealment of purpose to put into full political authority in this state those forces which opposed the war and helped to bring dishonor upon the state.

The American Legion at Janesville is to be applauded for its courage and decision in taking the stand it has on the side of good government. Its action is in no sense political, nor is it related to organized labor. It is expressly what it purports to be, a resolute, timely, conscientious declaration for the great principle of Americanism.

As we approach the primary let every good citizen, who places loyalty to American institutions and to country above everything else, think over the significance of this incident. The Non-

Partisan League and the American Legion are as far apart as the poles. So are La Follette and the Legion. So are Blaine and Thompson and the Legion. Is the Non-Partisan League to rule here, or are the principles of the American Legion?

A WORKING LEAGUE
A pretty good example of a working league of nations is the United States of America. Here are forty-eight self-governing commonwealths, each as important as an ordinary kingdom, each autonomous concerning its own affairs, but submitting to the general interest in inter-state affairs. This league has existed nearly a century and a half and has survived one civil conflict, fought to determine whether it were necessary for it to continue.

Why does it exist? Is it because it is under one flag? That is putting the effect for the cause. Flags do not make principles or governments. They merely represent them. Is it because the interests of the different parts are identical? Can you imagine a much greater diversity of interests than those between Maine and California, North Dakota and South Carolina, Rhode Island and Texas? Considered by themselves, they are, or would be, less related than England and Germany, France and Austria. Is it because of racial homogeneity? Every race under the sun is represented here.

What binds this league together? What is the common interest? It is so simple, so exceedingly simple, that one constantly overlooks it, but it is this: You can go through the forty-eight great states, one after the other, and never know when you cross a boundary. Suppose it were otherwise? Suppose, every time you crossed a boundary, you were confronted with a frowning fortress and a man with a gun? Or by a tax collector and a tariff gatherer? Would you have the same feeling of amity towards the other forty-seven states which you have today?

It is the freedom of interchange between all which makes this league what it is, which welds all together into one indissoluble whole. It needs no change of governments, no assignments of independence, or arbitrary rulings by councils or assemblies. All it needs is freedom.

A CAMPAIGN FIASCO
The charges and counter-charges about slush funds in the presidential campaign have ended as we predicted they would end, in a complete fiasco. Governor Cox's sensational assertion that the Republican national committee, in furtherance of a senatorial cabal, was out to buy the presidency with a fund of from $8,000,000 to $15,000,000 has fallen flat. The Republicans set out to get, according to Will H. Hayes the insignificant sum of $3,000,000, to which they are going to add another million if possible, to take care of unforeseen contingencies. If this program goes through the cost of electing Mr. Harding in case he wins, will be only $4,000,000, and that of course is to be considered a reasonable figure measured in terms of present day prices. In fact, the contributors ought to feel they are getting off pretty well.

As for the poor Democrats, it seems they have been able to raise less than $100,000 thus far, although there was testimony to the effect that their aspirations had once soared as high as $10,000,000. As is invariably the case, the Republicans are having less trouble with their campaign budget than are the Democrats. The investigation will end without disclosing anything of importance. The whole thing is really a joke, charges, investigation and all. There is no honest desire by the politicians to interfere with the use of money in campaigns. They want plenty of leeway for the raising of slush funds and the possibility of incurring public disfavor is the only influence which serves to restrain them. If they were really concerned with the purity of American elections and the protection of the ballot against sinister influences, they would enact such laws as made it impossible to spend money in the reckless fashion it is now spent in both primaries and elections for congress and the presidency.

THESE "HOLDUPS" NEED NO GUNS
Houston.—They ought to have gone Jesse James "dill" crumble motorists here. The standard price of hauling a bearded automotor to the road is $3.00 in this country. In Liberty, Mo. farmers with teams charge $10 to $15 for the same service. "It's a hold-up," motorists here protest.

MORE COMPENSATION
It is a matter of academic or technical interest, merely, whether an individual has valvular leakage, dilated heart, heart muscle weakness or heart muscle inflammation (myocarditis), fatty degeneration of the heart muscle, or the point of view of what is wrong with his circulating system. It is likewise a mere technical detail whether the arteries are hard or soft or whether the blood pressure is high or low. These technical questions may be safely left to the consideration of the individual's physician; in fact, they cannot be safely submitted to the consideration of anyone else. What the individual should concern himself about is, not how sick he is, but how well he is. If my heart is damaged in any way or if any arteries are affected, the point of vital concern for me to know is, What is the functional capacity of my damaged heart or my injured arteries?

It is a common fallacy to assume that one with a known valvular leakage or a myocarditis (heart muscle degeneration or inflammation) must avoid all exercise or exertion for the rest of life. The truth is that in many cases of heart disease, intelligently graduated exercise is one of the most essential and most helpful methods of treatment for the restoration of efficiency to the injured heart. But exercise as a remedy must be used under the direction of self-constituted authorities than any pill or potion that ever came over the druggist's counter. When brazen physical culturists assume to prescribe exercise in the treatment of disease of which they know no more than the poor soul who takes stock in such twaddle, that constitutes abuse, and the result is too likely to prove a disappointment.

Absolute rest, in bed at first and later in a chair, is the remedy most needed by the average individual with heart disease. Not until the heart becomes capable of maintaining an efficient circulation while the patient sits in a chair—and that means a circulation which answers the patient's requirements, so that he suffers no symptoms ascribable to a faulty circulation—is the use of exercise as a remedy advisable. And then it must be very gradually applied, perhaps beginning with a few simple movements in a chair or in bed, all under the observation of the physician.

The heart is a muscle, and as a muscle it responds to the natural stimulus of exercise. It undergoes a process of development, increase in thickness or size, as a result of gradually increasing exercise. If there is a valvular leakage, this muscular development is indispensable for the maintenance of an efficient circulation. Thus an "enlarged" heart is not to be considered an unfavorable omen; it is rather evidence of good compensation for the handicap placed upon the circulation by the leaking heart valve. The heart muscle must do greater work, when a valve leaks, than a healthy heart has to do in order to keep up a good circulation. If the heart can thus be made to compensate, by careful development of the muscle, the individual becomes free of distress and capable of moderate work or play without suffering any distress.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Numberless Pages
Some queer old maid, Mrs. M. I. suppose, invented the trick of making a beginning, her letter set on the posterior or obverse or whatever you call it side of the folded sheet and then jumping to page three for the second page, thence skipping kitchinishly back to page one for the third, etc., etc. per omnia saecula saeculorum. I quote briefly from such a letter—no page numbered, you know, for that wouldn't be sufficiently spinstersish:
.....I have been suffering with (turn over)treatments by a well known specialist. (Foot of page one)I would like to take turn oversatin disease for four years. (Foot of page four)I am a great admirer of (turn over) such awful competency.....
Now, I ask you, ain't it just grand to puzzle over a thing like that? To be fair to the sex, let me add that the letter was written by an old maid named John R.....

Lady, Lady, Shiny Nose
Since you condemn the powder, hats, corsets, prettiness, jazz dances, the saxophone, high stomp shoes, moderate smoking, and I suppose chocolate drops and rubber tires, won't you give us poor shiny-nosed creatures some harmless relief or possibly a remedy? Or do you consider shiny noses more lady-like or something? (A. W.)

ANSWER—You mention to mention soda water, automatic jacks, steam heat, mineral water, absent treatment and chewing gum. Otherwise your indictment is correct. Not that I am a cynic, but your unqualified condemnation of all these things, which should be confined to their proper place. A shiny nose is certainly a beautiful thing on a blushing maiden. I don't care what anybody else thinks about it. For the sophisticated member of the sex, perhaps it is considered bucolic. Try this:

Zinc sulphate 1 dram
Sulphurated potassium 1 dram
Rose water 4 ounces
To be applied night and morning.

Free Mountains

By Frederic J. Haskin
Santa Fe, N. M.—The national forests of the west are the one remaining part of America where a man without much money has just the same rights as the man of wealth, where one is free to roam and hunt and fish without any restrictions save a few that are necessary for the common good.
No doubt the national forests are valuable as a cover for watersheds and indispensable as a timber reserve, but one is inclined to think that perhaps their greatest service is in preserving the traditional American right to wander free over the face of the earth.

To a man who has been taking his outings in the East it is like an escape from prison to come to the free mountains of the west. Go to the Catskills or the Adirondacks or Poconos or the southern Appalachians or the swamplands of the south, or any of the other regions in the East where hunting and fishing are good, and the country is still open; you will find everywhere the same conditions. The best of the lakes and streams and game covers, the finest scenery, all owned and carefully patrolled. With-out exception, private clubs have the best of it. The next belongs to various resort companies and hotels, whose rates you must pay in order to enjoy the privileges of their lands.

There is still some free hunting and fishing, it is true, but even this requires the getting of permits, the observing of various meters and bounds, the hiring of guides, and various other measures which cost much money and rob the outing of half its charm. For the real charm of getting out-of-doors is that of getting back for a while to a pioneer existence in which one depends upon his own strength and resourcefulness and enjoys the right of doing what he pleases and going wherever he wants.

Ceremonious Sport
Hunting and fishing in the East tend to become more and more a sort of formal procession. If you want to shoot ducks you write to an establishment on Back Bay, you are met at the train, taken to the seashore, carried out in a motorboat concealed in a sink box. Then the guide puts out the decoys and goes and chases the ducks in your direction. Your part consists merely in rising up and pulling the trigger at the proper moment.
So if you want to shoot a deer you arrange to have a whole thing by wire and are escorted into the presence of your victim by a couple of lackeys going under the name of guides. In either case it will cost you about fifteen or twenty dollars a day. And unless your object is to shed a certain amount of blood in the most expeditious way possible you will feel that the thing has been robbed of its essential qualities. Freedom and a sense of adventure are the best of the out-door can give, and these are lacking.

Most men can no longer afford sport in the east, even if they cared for it. The American whose father spent his vacations in the woods, where he developed muscle and nerve, energetically goes to some seaside resort where he wears a straw hat, eats pop-corn, and fires with the cutties.

This is not so in the west. Nearly every man in this part of the country still rides a horse and shoots a gun. The result is a higher average of health which was demonstrated by the draft, and also a different social atmosphere, which is hard to define but very noticeable. There is more good nature and tolerance in the west, and less of the devil-take-the-hindmost spirit which rules in the great eastern cities. One thing is expressed in a sentimental sort of way by that widespread known poem, "Out where the West Begins." An investigation would probably establish the fact that the west, in the traditional sense, begins with the region of the national forests.

A Great Domain
We have forgotten the exact area of them, but if you will look at a map you will see that they cover a very large portion of the Rocky Mountain States. This whole domain is forever exempted from private ownership, except in small areas of arable land along streams, which may be homesteaded. Furthermore, anyone may lease from the Government for a nominal sum the right to build a summer home on a national forest, but he may not sell this establishment. Aside from such leased and homesteaded portions, which are only a tiny patch on the whole, the national forests are free to all on exactly the same terms. You may fish and hunt wherever you please. The only restrictions are that you must not cut the timber, except such small amounts as you need for camp purposes, that you must use every precaution not to start forest fires, that you keep a clean camp and obey the fish and game laws.

The Forest Service is discharging its trust as custodian of these public playgrounds in a way that deserves all possible credit. It sells permits for the grazing of stock on the national forests, and the timber under such restrictions that the cutting mill will not injure the forests. Much of the income derived from these sources is spent in the building of roads and trails to make the wilderness accessible.

There are only restricted areas in the national forests which can be reached by road, but a trail can be made almost anywhere, and these trails, which are being rapidly extended, are a wonderful boon to the summer wanderer. They are a boon which will be a good deal more appreciated in the future, when more people seek the national forests every summer, than they are now. For the tourists, as yet, are only venturing timidly across the edge of the national forests country. They congregate at a few points like Colorado Springs and Glacier National Park and the Yellowstone, and if you go to these you may imagine that the mountains are overrun with people, but you have no idea of the immense stretches of country over which you might ride without seeing a man a day.

The Boon of Good Trails
Yet all of this country is rapidly being made accessible, and safely accessible to anyone who is able to ride a horse and make his own camp. Without a trail, any but an experienced mountain man is soon lost in this wilderness, but the Forest Service builds its trails so that anyone can follow them, and no one soldier could fall off of them. They are blazed in the first place, so that by watching the marks on the trees you can surely find your way. In the second place, they are graded like wagon roads, Canyon-sides that are almost sheer, and were formerly ascended if at all, with great difficulty and some danger, are now scaled by means of trains with halprin turns that make the thing easy. And every little way there is a sign, telling you how far it is to the next settlement, or the next water, while every fork and turning is carefully marked. Going from this town to the Pecos country not many years ago was something of an adventure with an excellent chance of missing the way. The trail had a habit of completely disappearing every now and then, and only a man who knew the lay of the land could safely make the trip. Now anyone with good eyesight and a good horse can do it.

The beauty of this western playground is that it is permanent. There used to be a good deal of agitation among capitalist interests in the West for reducing or abolishing forests, but this seems to have died down. The forests are recognized as a permanent institution. And the great part of them can never be lost, anything else. They are too high and rocky, too cold in winter, to be used as farms. They are a permanent heritage from pioneer America.

PEAT SOCIETY WILL MEET IN MADISON

Many Delegates From All Parts of Country Expected to Attend.
Madison, Wis.—Plans for the development of America's vast peat areas will be made at the annual meeting of the American Peat Society, at the University of Wisconsin, Sept. 2 to 4.
Officials expect delegates from many of the important peat states of the country. Wisconsin ranks as one of the important peat yielding states, having between two and three million acres of deposits.
Delegates to Make Tour
A program has been prepared for the meeting which will bring to Madison men interested in the development of the peat industry. During the conference excursions will be made to the moor and sand districts in the vicinity of Madison.
Officers of the American Peat Society are: Homer C. Thompson, New York; A. R. Whitson, Wisconsin, first vice president; C. S. Robinson, Michigan, second vice president; Chas. Knapp, New York, secretary-treasurer.

One of the largest deposits of peat in the state is located in the Center swamp near here and will be developed in the near future by the newly organized Appleton Peat Products company. It is probable that company will be represented at the Madison meeting.

THE BOOK OF ANN

Wife Will Show What Home Means To Man and Wife

Jordan Spence had come home, too. And it looked as if "a new life" was commencing for several of the tribe of Lorimers. A curious change came over Chrys the minute she heard Dr. Spence was in town. She immediately gave up all of her plans to do any public speaking in the political campaign this fall. Said she didn't want to, but preferred to do her bit in a less conspicuous way, she would train women in the intricate processes of housework.

"And it's all because Jordan Spence is so terribly conservative in his ideas about women," I said to Mother Lorimer. "It's ridiculous. Spence and Chrys parted forever just because she couldn't give up her old outboard! And now, she has not only cast it aside, with scorn, but she's gone to every other extreme on the calendar! She's set on being a womanly woman to the 'nth' degree! I think it's silly to let a man run you so."

Martha Palmer, our little lady lawyer, was counted as one of our star attractions in the rally. Martha is a trained speaker and she knows more about politics than her husband, Bob says.

Martha came over to find out what we wanted her to talk about at the rally.

"Explain that it doesn't take half so long to mark a ballot or to punch a few levers in a voting machine as it does to shop around for a new blouse," said Chrys.

"Yes—upset man's favorite theory that women haven't the time and to go to the polls," laughed Mother Lorimer.

"I'd like to say a few things about home-making," Martha said, "just to show what men how women can combine domestic and political topics. They really do belong together, of course, for government is obviously devised for the protection of the homes."

"What will you tell the men—"

through the women"

"I'm going to say that home-making is a business which deals with material things, and therefore an estimate of its value can be set down in dollars and cents. It may be economical, or extravagant, reckoned so. But it has another value, which women must recognize. It can be measured in the energy of the man who supports it. For example, a wife ought not to say simply as a matter of course, that the rent is so many dollars. She ought to recall how many working hours of her husband's life that rent money represents."

"Martha, I can see that you're planning to get right down to the hearts of the men at the rally," said Mother. "Maybe, I am going to say also that a wife ought to consider her garbage pail the last thing every night. Some of them ought to pray over it, I think. They ought to ask themselves seriously, just what all that waste means, when reckoned in money, and how much more it means in a man's brain, nerve and muscle force, and his fatigue, also."

Of course we all applauded that. She was also going to refer to the purely decorative female in the house—the kind who refuses to bother a vote. She is a handicap in the family, when you measure her by the things she might do and does not do. The beauty naps taken in the afternoon by one hundred indolent women would make fifty little baby dresses in a day. The hour spent by one woman in airing one small dog daily would save the life of a sad stem chrysanthemum.

"Fix up your speech just along these lines," we urged Martha.

"We certainly do not to reckon everything in our lives by standards of human values. And a political meeting is the particular place to preach the doctrine," Mother Lorimer concluded. "I can see a future for my sex's politics—when I hear Martha talk."

WOMEN READY FOR LABOR DAY JAUNT

Final Preparations for Excursion Are Made at Meeting Tuesday Night.

Tuesday evening witnessed the final wind-up of the summer season activities of the recreational department of Appleton Women's Club. At the sports council meeting at the high school final arrangements were completed for "jollification" on Labor Day as a climax to the season. Committees have spared no pains to make the excursion a red letter event. The "Paul L" has been chartered for Sept. 6. The "day" will begin for the committees as early as seven o'clock in the morning for they intend to be on hand early enough to get every thing in tip top shape for the guests.

A booth is to be well-supplied with all picnic essentials such as ice cream, sweet chocolate, soft drinks, fruit and lemons.

A piano has been secured so that music may be provided for "atmosphere" when necessary. The girls are also planning to take such portable musical instruments as ukuleles, banjos, guitars, mouth organs, jew's harps and natural whistles.

Plans are made to spend practically the whole day on the lake. Noon lunch will be served at North Park, Oshkosh. A base ball game will be played about two o'clock. The rest of the afternoon will be spent aboard the boat, where summer will be served.

The Misses Irene and Esther Heiss have the distinction of selling the most tickets, having disposed of 33.

The recreational department of the Appleton Women's Club has invited the general public to attend the Labor Day excursion and enjoy a whole day of good sport.

WANDERING SERVICE MAN IS CAPTURED BY POLICE

Matthew E. Hann, who claims to be a soldier on furlough, was taken into custody by the police Tuesday afternoon at the request of Thomas Flanagan, superintendent of the county asylum.

The man was wandering along the Dale road and acted strangely. Mr. Flanagan's attention was called to the matter by residents in that locality to the belief that he was an escaped inmate. Mr. Flanagan took him in charge and then notified the police.

The man claims to be a sergeant in Company A, 10th Machine Gun Battalion, stationed at Camp Dodge, Iowa. He stated that he was on furlough, but was not in uniform. He had evidently been a sign painter. His hands were covered with paint.

He stated that he was born in Tien Tsin, China, and that he had a brother living at Knowlton, Iowa, named Joseph Hann. Chief Prim is endeavoring to find his relatives.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Many people say they never have "any luck" using sour or buttermilk in cakes and puddings.

If one will remember certain rules or formulas, "luck" will enter into the use of buttermilk and soda.

Use 1 teaspoonful of soda to a cup of milk. The sourness of the milk, of course, needs to be taken into consideration. In case the milk has stood until very thick, a speck more soda is needed than when the milk has just "turned." Buttermilk that has been churned over twelve hours will need more soda than freshly made buttermilk. But the amount of soda does not vary more than 1/4 of a teaspoonful.

Soda should always be dissolved before adding it to the cake or pudding. If this is done there will never be lumps of pure undissolved soda found in the food. Use 1 teaspoonful of hot water to 1 teaspoonful of soda. Add this to the milk if making biscuits or stir it into cake or griddle cakes the last thing before baking.

Sour milk and soda seem to make a tenderer, softer dough than baking powder and sweet milk do.

Very often a recipe will require both soda and baking powder. In this event the amount of soda should be small, merely enough to sweeten the milk. The baking powder is used to give lightness.

During the summer months especially, a housekeeper finds much sour milk in her pantry. Griddle cakes are a bit heavy for breakfast but are nice for luncheon and use up one day's excess of milk. If a few vegetables are at hand, left over from dinner the night before, try adding them to the batter. Green corn, peas, string beans, cauliflower broken in tiny pieces, all these vegetables may be added to griddle cake batter and a good luncheon dish provided.

A pudding with fruit baked in the dough is quite successful when the sour milk and soda method is employed. There is always an acidity about fruit. The fruit juice and sour milk blend and are neutralized by the soda. Biscuits and breads made with soda are more easily digested than those made with baking powder.

Tommy Tinker "just loves" cookies—the kind mother bakes on the new Stewart Gas Range. See the large batch she has just made in the Stewart Gas Range—finished off with that rich, brown color she always gets by putting them just for a minute in the Broiler, underneath where the overhead flame colors them up just right! She couldn't do this in her old cook stove—it wouldn't work!

Found Much Mud

Gordon Fish and Emil Engel, who made a trip to Antigo Sunday on Mr. Engel's motorcycle came in contact with so much mud and of such a sticky nature that they were compelled to leave the motorcycle there and return by train. They left here at three o'clock in the morning and got caught in the rain at Wittenberg, where they remained until after dinner. They were met by an official delegation from were compelled to make frequent stops to remove the mud from the machine and also found it necessary to employ on the editorial staff of the Milwaukee Journal, was a passenger.

FINAL REHEARSAL FOR LEGION SHOW TONIGHT

The final rehearsal for "Oh, Oh, Cindy" is to be held at Appleton theater Wednesday evening. All the groups will come together and will go through the entire play as it is to be staged Thursday and Friday evenings.

Joseph Winninger, manager of the theater, cancelled the motion picture scheduled for the evening, in order that the players might rehearse on the stage.

The first scene of the musical revue is perhaps the most novel of any in the show. It depicts the "behind-the-scenes" chorus girl as she is in real life. The girls who take part in it are said to be far from amateur in the skill with which they execute their parts. Among those in the chorus are Marie Peacor, Irene Morse, Helen Wheeler, Bessie Wadsworth, Hannah Rosenthal, Margaret Feavel, Frances McGrath, Margaret Croll, na Kuether, Naomi Peerenboom, Catherine Rechner, Helen Schwartzburg, Margaret Engler, Mary Stridde, Ethel Frawley, Gladys Rosera, Janet Smith, Inez Wheeler, Agnes Malone, Claire Langstadt, Margaret McCann, Estelline Chamberlain, Ruth Nemachek, Doris Herrick, Helen Dittmer, Gertrude Belieu, Anne Hawes, Hiss Ragland and Gerdene Chamberlain.

Posters displaying photographs of the players were on exhibition at several downtown places today, and attracted widespread attention. They show some of the groups and a few of the principal characters in the play.

Practically the entire house has been sold out for both nights, and there is some talk of staging the play a third evening if there is enough of a demand. A few seats may still be had for the Friday performance.

SCHOOL OPENS Tues., Sept. 7. Prepare your boy today.

Fathers and Mothers! How Would You Like to Save a Lot of Money on your Boys School Clothing?

Through a most lucky purchase made a few days ago, places us in a wonderful position to save you considerable money on good clothes for your boys. We can do so because we saved on them ourselves.

This great money-saving news we are spreading here, came to us, by wire, from one of the greatest Boys' Clothes Houses in the land. They had been forced to take back a large shipment of boys' suits from a merchant who was unable to furnish the necessary funds to cover amount of invoice. All merchants having already made purchases for Fall and Winter selling made it seem unwise for the house to go out on the road and resell them. So remembering the wonderful busy department store of Gloudemans-Gage Co. they wired us at once, saying, "If you can handle the entire shipment, liberal reductions would be made on every number."

As we are well acquainted with, and know the reputation of these suits that they are made of wool materials, that the models are perfect fitting and that the colors and patterns lead all other lines of boys' suits, we returned word immediately, to ship by next express. They have just arrived. We are pleased with them. Why, we find them better than was expected. And we are sure you will join us in saying, when you see them—that this is a LUCKY BUY.

BOYS WILL BE PROUD IN ONE OF THESE SUITS AND YOU PARENTS WILL THANK US FOR THE GREAT SAVINGS OFFERED

Champs Lose in 13th

Leaders Lose Again

Boston.—In a game twice interrupted by rain on Tuesday, Boston defeated Chicago 7 to 3, by bunching hits on Cicotte. Although hit freely, Cicotte tightened in the pinches. He led his team at bat with three singles. Felsch made a great one hand catch on Menck's long drive near the centerfield bleachers in the first inning.

DOUBLE HEADER TO BE PLAYED MONDAY

Oshkosh and Brandt Will Meet in Two Battles Here Labor Day.

The first Fox River valley league double header in Appleton this season will be played here Monday afternoon when Oshkosh and Appleton clash in two games. Final arrangements for the double match were completed yesterday. The first game is to start at one o'clock.

Hank Schultz, Brandt's Milwaukee star, will probably pitch the first game. If he is unable to go on with the second, Brandt will have one or two good men in reserve so there will be no dearth of pitching material.

The biggest crowd of the season is expected to witness the double contest. Oshkosh has the best team in the league and is resting safely in first place. A double victory for Appleton, however, will help put the Brandt team within striking distance of the gonfalon.

A victory over Menasha next Sunday would help things along very materially. Menasha has been "meat" for Brandt's men thus far and they are confident that the long string of victories will not be broken when Sunday's game is ended.

APPLETON GOLFER WILL TRY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Green Rowen of this city is named as one of the contestants in the 1920 championship contest of the Wisconsin Professional Golfer association, which takes place on the Milwaukee Country Club links September 19 and 20.

A pro-amateur event is also scheduled for Sunday, September 19. The inspectors of the state are therefore instructed to bring their partners with them for this event.

The 35th hole golfing for the championship will be conducted on Monday, the 20th. Amateurs with handicaps of six or less will be allowed to compete for the open championship. There are said to be 50 of this class in the state.

MOSENEE WINS ANOTHER GAME

Wausau, Wis.—Mosenee defeated the Wausau Lumberjacks on Sunday by a score of 7 to 5. Benz, the Wausau hurler was hit freely. Mosenee has lost but one game out of twenty played this season.

TAKE MOVIES OF BADGER SCENERY

Good Roads Enthusiasts Return
From 2,500 Mile Photography Trip.

Special to Post-Crescent.
Madison—Boozed, sunburned, but enthusiastic, W. O. Hargness, State Geologist, F. A. Campbell, executive secretary of the Good Roads Association of Wisconsin, J. T. Hargness, Maintenance Engineer of the Wisconsin Highway Commission, and J. M. Tuttle, University photographer, have just returned to Madison after a 2,500 mile trip taken to make photographs and movies of the scenery of Wisconsin.

They made over 400 photographs and movies of the striking scenic spots and they feel that they have only made a beginning. The feature of the trip was that, while they left Madison supposedly fully equipped with plates and films for their work, they ran short of them on two occasions and had to wire Madison for a further supply.

The work in eastern Wisconsin has not yet been completed and will be done later. The state was covered from Prairie du Chien on the Mississippi to Superior, across to Iron Mountain, Michigan, through the lake region of Upper Michigan. The pictures include most of the striking scenic spots in the state, views of the Bluffs and Trempealeau Mountain, and the Mississippi River scenery taken from a launch, odd rock formations in southwestern Wisconsin. Numerous water falls in Upper Wisconsin beginning with the falls of the Black River south of Superior with its 140 foot drop, over to Quinnesec Falls in Marinette County, were pictured in movies and still views. The party also took in the lake region of Oconto, Vilas and Forest Counties where photos and movies were taken at Three Lakes, Eagle River and Minocqua.

An unusual spot visited was the largest piece of standing white pine in Wisconsin near Drummond. A day was spent on the Apostle Islands on Lake Superior.

Slides will be made from the still views and these in connection with the movies will be shown throughout the state in the winter and in surrounding states by the Good Roads Association of Wisconsin. They will also be utilized for illustrated magazine and other articles and propaganda, telling the story of the beauties of Wisconsin.

WORKMEN FIND BODY OF MAN IN THE MENOMINEE

Marquette—While men were working on the boom near Pembine dam on the Menominee river between Faith or hand Pembine, they found the body of an unidentified man. It was evident from the condition of the body that it had been in the water a long time. An investigation is being made.

OCOONTO FALLS TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Oconto, Wis.—The Oconto Falls school board by unanimous vote decided to bond the city for $50,000 to build a new Jefferson school to replace the one destroyed by fire. The plan is for an eight-room school. Only four rooms and basement will be built next year in order to accommodate the demands of the district. The building will be modern.

The school board of the town of Mountain, Oconto county, is planning a teachers' home for teachers, under the new state law. Many cities and county districts, realizing the necessity of finding suitable housing facilities to combat the shortage of teachers due to such causes, are building teachers' homes. These homes also provide a social center.

SHOEMAKER IS FIRST TO FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Madison, Wis.—Francis H. His statement showed receipts of $387.40, paid in a number of places where he made speeches, the amounts running from $2 to $154.50. Expenditures, largely for printing and traveling, amounted to $449.

County Clerk Increases Number of Primary Ballots by Two-Thirds.

Eight thousand additional ballots have been ordered by County Clerk Herman J. Kamp to provide for the new woman voters in the county. This is an increase of 67 per cent over last year's 12,000, and makes a total of 20,000 ballots. They will be delivered to the voting precincts Friday.

Besides the increased number of votes because of the new constitutional amendment, a larger farmer vote is expected from the new state ruling regarding rural poll closing hours. In the past the polls will be open as usual from six o'clock in the morning to eight o'clock in the evening, but in villages they will be open from nine o'clock in the morning to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and in townships from nine to eight o'clock. These hours are effective unless a petition is received from some precinct, asking a change. No such petitions have been received at the Outagamie county office.

Ballots will be sent to the various precincts as follows:

MANITOWOC COUNTY FAIR BREAKS PAST RECORDS

Manitowoc, Wis.—All records were broken by this year's county fair. Officials announce there was an attendance of approximately 40,000 Thursday. The total attendance for the four days outnumbered all previous years' crowds. One of the factors was the homecoming which brought thousands of visitors to the city. Fair officials plan to improve the grounds.

NAIL SHORTAGE NO LONGER FELT

Manufacturing Conditions Are Reported to Be Improving.

The nail famine of the past few months is over. There were times when very few nails could be had in Appleton, but the supply is now plentiful. Other manufacturing materials seem easier to obtain now, and labor is more plentiful.

These improvements in manufacturing conditions were pointed out by George Schmidt of the Standard Manufacturing company. He believes that there will be no slump in the wood-working industry for some time, because of the house shortage.

"We find it much easier to get the steel products needed in our work," said Mr. Schmidt. "Nails were especially hard to get for a while. The government took almost the entire supply, but now we can get all we want."

He said that Wisconsin lumber will be affected very little by the increase in freight rates. Western and southern lumber will cost four to five dollars a thousand feet more, however. His company uses considerable of this material in its work and will have to face the increase. There seems to be plenty of labor now, although there is no surplus of men.

"I believe building costs will be as high next year as now," continued Mr. Schmidt. "If anybody asked my advice about building now or next summer, I would tell him to go right ahead. There is too large a demand for houses and the demand for materials and labor will keep the price where it is for some time."

RUSK COUNTY SETTLERS FOR PIONEERS' CLUB

Lady-Rusk—At a meeting of old settlers of Rusk county at Island Lake, the Rusk County Old Settlers' association was organized and the following officers elected: President, John T. Hargness, vice president, D. E. Gatchell, Island Lake secretary, D. W. Mainwaring, Ladysmith. The association plans to hold a picnic annually. One of the most interesting features of the day was a talk by John Hill, formerly of Island Lake, now of Ashland. Mr. Hill was the custodian of the famous eagle, "Old Abe," during the Civil War. He related that the young eagle was captured by three Indians just south of Island Lake. A trader bought it from the Indians, giving them a half bushel of corn. The trader took it to East Chute, where he sold it to a saloon keeper for $2, who bought it to give to Co. A, Eighth Wisconsin Infantry, for a mascot. This company, having just been recruited at East Chute, John Hill was at that time 15 years old. Years after the war Mr. Hill moved to Island Lake, where he has a fine farm which will be used for a summer cottage.

The field had been narrowed down to sixteen pairs.

R. Morris Williams, Boston, and Willis E. Davis, San Francisco; Dean Markey, New York, and Wallace F. Johnson, Philadelphia; Clarence J. Coffey, St. Francis, and Fred B. Alexander, New York.

NEED MORE FARMERS TO REDUCE H. C. L.

Division of Markets Avers
Production Is Seriously Hurt
by Labor Shortage.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)

Madison, Wis.—The division of markets calls attention to the fact that the question of the large increase of the urban and the almost insignificant increase of the rural population is of prime importance in the consideration of the problem of the cost of living.

The enormous increase of consumers of farm products as compared with the slight increase of producers is due to three causes: (1) Many sons of farmers born and bred in the country are leaving for the city; (2) Men willing to hire themselves to farmers are decreasing rapidly both in number and in quality; and (3) The concentration of immigrants in large cities.

According to the census of 1910 the rural population increased by 4,151,493 while the urban population increased by 11,826,193. Side by side with this enormous increase of the urban population as compared with the rural population, there has lately been noticed a tremendous decrease of agricultural labor as compared with labor in other industries.

A few figures taken from official sources show what alarming proportions this decrease has taken.

According to the report of the department of agriculture there has been a reduction during the last year of at least 12 per cent in the hired labor on the farms and that the amount of such labor today is only 75 per cent of what it was before the war.

On the other hand, a recent report of the department of labor shows an excessive increase in the number of workers in the industries.

The division of markets points out that this decrease of agricultural labor is not an exceptional event due to post-war conditions. The shortage of agricultural labor is an evil of which the American farmer suffered long before the war.

The division believes that it is of the utmost importance for the state to remedy this situation. In the next letters to the press the division will give the reasons for the decrease of the agricultural population in general and of hired labor in particular and will discuss the measures which the state should take to induce those who are best suited for farming to remain on the land.

The two days will be given over to social features and entertainment, with general meetings of officials. POTATO PRICES ARE HIGHER THAN YEAR AGO

Madison, Wis.—The Division of Markets says of the potato situation: "Practically no Wisconsin stock has moved recently. Markets for foreign potatoes are considerable and are marked up. No Wisconsin stock is being quoted in the Chicago market as present by Minnesota, Early Ohio, which reports have been of fairer price, and have sold for $2.75 to $2.90 a ton. Prices paid for small lots at some Wisconsin leading points have ranged from $2.15 to $2.50 a ton. Higher than these prices have been paid for a time for some foreign and domestic crop, reports are being made that future prices are to fall."

DIVORCED COUPLE WANTS TO TRY AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fockel
Agree to Control Their Temper Hereafter.

Charles and Margaret Fockel of Seymour, who have been divorced since Jan. 26, 1920, were reunited in municipal court Tuesday afternoon by Judge A. M. Spencer, who upon the filing of the verified petition and the taking of testimony of both parties, vacated his former judgment. They left the court room as happy as if they were about to enter upon their first honeymoon.

In seeking a divorce Mr. Fockel, who is a carpenter by trade, charged his wife with cruel and inhuman treatment. His wife, however, was granted the divorce on a counterclaim. The couple had been married for several years at the time of the proceedings and had two children.

It was brought out in the testimony that their former trouble was due to their violent tempers which at times they failed to control. While on the stand, the divorce counsel inquired of Mrs. Fockel if she had a temper and was informed that it was her husband that possessed it, but finally admitted that she also had one. They both expressed a willingness to control their tempers hereafter.
